

MMC Becomes the First Mongolian Company to Receive IMS International Certification

(Hong Kong, 27 September 2018) – Mongolian Mining Corporation (“MMC”, the “Group”; SEHK: 975), is pleased to announce that on 26 September 2018 it has received a formal certification from AFNOR Group, an international standardization body, for successful implementation of an Integrated Management System (IMS) covering ISO 9001:2015 (Quality management), ISO 14001:2015 (Environmental management) and OHSAS 18001:2007 (Occupational health and safety management).

As a member of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), AFNOR Group consists of nearly 2,500 member companies and operates with an aim to lead and coordinate the ISO standards development process and to promote the application of those standards.

The certification was based on standard assessment and acknowledgment of MMC’s performance and track-record in the safety and environmental fields and included certification of both mining and processing operations at the Ukhaa Khudag coal mine.

IMS certificates on Quality management, Environment and Safety standards

Mrs. Fabienne Bonin-Bree, the Regional Director of AFNOR Group, said: “AFNOR Group is delighted to award IMS certificates to MMC, acknowledging its excellent performance as a responsible mining company. It is also important to highlight that MMC is the first organization in Mongolia to introduce IMS as a whole”.

Dr. Battsengel Gotov, CEO of MMC, said: “We are proud to receive IMS international certificates from AFNOR Group following a year-long preparation and hard work of our team. While adopting the best international practices across the above three fields, we are delighted to have become the first mining company which introduced the IMS in Mongolia, reflecting our ongoing commitment to deliver quality products to our customers in the most responsible way.”
